

CONTRIBUTORS AND EDITORS

Anne Lambert belongs to Congregation of the Sisters of the Divine Saviour (Salvatorian Sisters) from Sri Lanka. She did her professional studies in Bachelor of Arts in Religious Studies (Theology) at Aquinas University College, Colombo, Sri Lanka (2011-2014). She also achieved her B.Th. in Belgium. She recently finished the Research Master: Master of Advanced Studies in Theology and Religion at KU Leuven (2017-2019). Anne is currently a second-year doctoral researcher at KU Leuven, Belgium and working on the theme “Children’s Spirituality And Peace: A Practical Theological Analysis In The Post-War Context Of Sri Lanka” under the supervise of Prof. Annemie Dillen.

Annemie Dillen is professor in pastoral and empirical theology at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies, KU Leuven, Belgium. She is also an extra-ordinary Researcher at North-West University South Africa. She publishes about families, children, empirical theology and fundamental practical theological questions.

Daniel Franklin Pilario is member of the Congregation of the Mission, a professor and present Dean of St. Vincent School of Theology (Adamson University) in Manila, Philippines. On weekends, he works at the dumpsite parish in Payatas, Quezon City. He has written books, contributed articles, and edited or co-edited several anthologies – the most recent are Philippine Local Churches after the Spanish Regime (2015), Faith in Action: Catholic Social Teaching on the Ground (2015), Second Plenary Council of the Philippines: Quo Vadis (2015), Theology and Peacebuilding (2018), and Asian Christianities (2018). He belongs to the editorial board of philosophical and theological journals – among them, Concilium: International Journal of Theology and Hapág: A Journal of Interdisciplinary Theological Research. He is also a former President and Founding Member of DaKaTeo, the Catholic Theological Society of the Philippines.

Dave D. Capucan is currently the rector of Saint Joseph Formation House (SJFH) of the Prelature of Infanta. He is a lecturer at Saint Vincent School of Theology/Adamson University and Ateneo de Manila University. He was a former lecturer at CICM Maryhill School of Theology (MST), East Asian Pastoral Institute (EAPI), and Institute of Formation for Religious Studies (IFRS). He obtained his PhD from Radboud University Nijmegen, The Netherlands and from Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium. He is the founding chairman of Center for Empirical Studies in Spirituality, Theology and Religion - Asia (CESSTREL-ASIA).

Gunter Prueller-Jagenteufel He finished his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Theology/Religious Education and Mathematics and his doctorate in Catholic Theology at the University of Vienna. He did his habilitation/post-doctoral studies in Moral Theology at the Catholic Theological Faculty of Regensburg University. He is an active member and officer of many international Theological Organizations. He has published and edited works in the field of Theology and Ethics.

Jaime A. Belita, C.M., born in Iloilo, studied philosophy in St. Mary's Seminary and theology in De Andreis School of Theology, both in the U.S. After teaching in a seminary at Iloilo, he obtained a doctorate from the Catholic University of Leuven in Belgium. Upon return, he was designated seminary Rector in Cebu, and, later, President of Adamson University. At present, he teaches at St. Vincent's School of Theology (Adamson University) and De La Salle University, Manila. He wrote God Was Not in the Wind, awarded in 2007 the Best Book in Theology/Religion by the Manila Critics Circle with the National Book Development Board. With two others, Fr. Belita authored God's World, My Word, a four volume religion textbook for secondary students. His recent book is entitled Release for Wholeness. A Study of Healing Where Faith and Science Converge and Grace in Nature Revealed (2015).

Johan Verstraeten is emeritus professor theological ethics (with teaching assignment) at KU.Leuven, president of the Flemish Network for Justice and Peace, president of the Museum for Modern and Contemporary Religious Art (Basilica Koekelberg, Brussels). His field of expertise is Catholic Social Thought; Business Ethics; Leadership and Spirituality”.

Kristine Meneses is a Deaf and Disability advocate and a volunteer Sign Language interpreter. She earned her degree of Ph.D. in Theology at the St. Vincent School of Theology and is currently affiliated at the University of Santo Tomas. Her research can be described as rhizomatous, where she intersects Biblical Theology, Deaf and Disability and Queer Theories. She was a research fellow at DePaul University, Chicago, Il, USA. She also holds membership in the Ecclesia of Women in Asia (EWA), Damdaming Katoliko sa Teolohiya (DaKaTeo) and associate membership in the Catholic Biblical Association of the Philippines (CBAP). Her latest publications are: “L’Arche, A Radical Reversal: Fearless Dialogue between Foucault and Vanier with the New Testament.” Journal of Disability and Religion 24 No. 2 (2020): 151-173 and “Deafinitely Different: Seeing deafness, Deaf and healing in the Bible from Deaf perspectives.” In Unlocking Orthodoxies for Inclusive Theologies: Queer Alternatives, edited by Robert E. Shore-Goss and Joseph N. Goh, 174-191. Abingdon, Oxon: Routledge, 2020.

Rex F. Fortes is a member of the Congregation of the Mission of the Philippine Province. He holds a Bachelor of Arts Major in Philosophy from Adamson University in Manila (1996), a Master of Arts in Theology Major in Pastoral Ministry from St. Vincent School of Theology in Quezon City (2001), a Licentiate in Sacred Scriptures from the Pontificio Istituto Biblico in Rome (2013), and a Research Master of Advanced Studies in Theology and Religion in Leuven (2016). Currently, he is finishing his dissertation project for Doctorate in Biblical Theology at the Faculty of Theology and Religious Studies of KU Leuven, specifically working on the theme of ethnicity in the Fourth Gospel.

Rolando A. Tuazon, CM is a Filipino Vincentian priest. He obtained his licentiate (2002) and doctorate (2006) in Moral Theology at the Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium. He is a professor of Moral Theology at St. Vincent School of Theology, and has had opportunities to teach in other schools of theology. He also serves as the editor-in-chief of Hapag. His research interest lies on narrative ethics, liberation ethics, Catholic Social Tradition, and virtue ethics. He is a member of DAKATEO, an Association of Filipino Theologians in the Philippines. He has been very involved in ecumenical movement and one of the founding members of the Quezon City Ecumenical Fellowship in 2012. Presently, he also serves as Executive Director of the Philippine Action for Community-led Shelter Initiatives, Inc. (PACSII), an NGO serving the Homeless Peoples Federation Philippines, Inc. (HPFPI).